Muir & Queens Marquis

Architecture & Interiors

From the commanding yet graceful form of the MacKay-Lyons Sweetapple Architects-designed building to the fabric and finishes of Alessandro Munge's furnishings and interiors, every aspect of Muir's architecture and experience is considered and bespoke - a seldom tribute to Nova Scotia's maritime traditions and impeccable craftsmanship.

For all of these reasons and for the charm of Halifax, that is why Toronto Interior Design Group has chosen to host its first ever boutique design conference event primarily at the Muir and the Queens Marquis' complex in support of our wonderful design collective, artisans, trades and colleagues which passion for design and architecture are their most cherished aficionado.

My name is Yanic Simard, principal designer at TIDG, welcome to Halifax! Be prepared to be amazed and inspired. Immerse yourself in all of this timeless materiality in design that our majestic Canadian east coast has to offer.
